On December 13, 2008 we watched a movie that helped me realize why to reduce, re use, recycle. We do it so plastic bag's don't get in the ocean. I learned plastic bags would get stuck in side of the whales blow hole, and it won't let the whales breath. Even turtles start to eat it cause they think it's jellyfish, then die by choking on it. And bird's die by eating the trash from the ocean. Something I also learned is that to help the ocean, animals, and environment was to not use plastic bags and use cloth one's instead. And instead of using plastic bottles to carry around and re use them over, and over, we could use metal bottles. Cause when plastic bottles with water are in a area or car, it gets hot and it releases a chemical that can ruin the o-zone layer. So I'll remember to always reduce, re use, and recycle.
